

PRICE MATCHING POLICY

TEDS CAMERAS & DCW

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to ensure that all price-match enquiries across Ted's Cameras and Digital Camera Warehouse (DCW) are handled fairly, consistently, and in a way that supports our commitment to competitive pricing while protecting the long-term health of the business. This policy provides clear guidelines for staff and management to follow when assessing price-match requests, helping us maintain customer trust without compromising profitability or brand value.

Scope

This policy applies to:

- All Ted's Cameras and Digital Camera Warehouse retail stores and online operations
- All staff involved in sales, customer service, or pricing decisions
- All price-match enquiries received in person, online, or via phone

It covers individual product price-match requests as well as multi-unit and bulk enquiries.

Why Compliance Matters

Ted's Cameras and Digital Camera Warehouse operate in a competitive Australian retail environment where sustainable margins are essential. Each store is required to meet Gross Profit (GP%) targets, and these must remain front of mind when evaluating any price-match request.

Compliance ensures that:

- We maintain healthy margins to support staff, operational costs, and customer services
- We avoid devaluing our brands and the manufacturers we represent
- Customers receive consistent, fair, and transparent treatment across all locations
- Price-matching decisions do not undermine the financial health of the business

Non-compliance can lead to margin erosion, inconsistent customer experiences, and financial risk.

1. Product Availability

To qualify for a price match:

- The item must be in stock with the competitor at the time of the request.
- The competitor's price must be current and verifiable online or via an official written quote.
- Cashback promotions, store credits, bonus items, bundled deals, and similar promotional offers are excluded from price matching.
- Any handling, processing, or delivery charges from the competitor must be included when comparing total pricing.

2. Authorised Australian Stock Only

Price matching is only available on genuine, authorised Australian stock.

- Grey imports and products sold through unofficial channels (including Amazon Marketplace, eBay, parallel importers, and similar third-party sellers) are excluded.
- All eligible products must include an Australian manufacturer warranty and access to authorised local support.

3. Margin Protection & Approval Requirements

To ensure responsible margin management, staff must follow these guidelines:

- Competitor details, including business name, must be recorded in the sales documentation.
- Any price match producing a GP below 10% requires manager approval.
- Any price match producing a GP below 2% must be escalated to senior management (refer to the Who to Contact guide).
- Bulk or multi-unit requests must be forwarded to the relevant State Corporate Government representative.

4. Staff Discretion

Team members across Ted's Cameras and DCW are expected to exercise reasonable judgement consistent with company values.

- Non-genuine, unreasonable, or policy-inconsistent requests may be declined.
- Staff must balance customer service with the need to meet store GP% targets and overall business sustainability.

Internal Expectations

All staff must:

- Understand and consistently follow this policy
- Consider GP% implications before offering any price match
- Seek required approvals promptly and accurately
- Document competitor information thoroughly
- Protect the value and reputation of Ted's Cameras, DCW, and authorised Australian stock
- Consult with management when uncertain about eligibility or margin impacts

Consequences for Non-Compliance

Failure to comply with this policy may result in:

- Additional training or coaching
- Formal warnings for repeated or significant breaches
- Removal of price-matching authority
- Disciplinary action in accordance with company HR procedures

Price matching is an added service offered to customers - not a guarantee. Proper use of this policy safeguards our profitability, our teams, and the long-term success of Ted's Cameras and Digital Camera Warehouse.
