02 How super works

About super

Superannuation is money invested now for when you're ready to kick back and relax in retirement. It's a long term investment and is the main way most Australians save for their retirement. Typically, eligible employees begin accruing super when they start working, as their employer is required to pay a percentage of their salary or wages into their super fund. These employer contributions are known as Superannuation Guarantee (SG). Rest is also able to receive other contributions on behalf of a member, such as voluntary contributions or the Government co-contribution.

There are caps on the amount of money that can be contributed to super without incurring additional taxes. These caps apply to both voluntary contributions and employer contributions (including SG). Contributions that come from before-tax income are called concessional contributions, while those made from after-tax income are referred to as non-concessional contributions.

There are also rules and limits around when you can withdraw your super, like when you reach a certain age or can't work due to permanent disability, and how much you can withdraw. To find out more, including information on withdrawals from super, visit ato.gov.au/individuals/super.

Choosing your fund

You generally have the option to select your preferred super fund by completing a 'Standard choice form'. If you don't choose a fund, your employer is obligated to check with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) whether you already have an active super fund, referred to as a 'stapled super fund', that can accept your employer contributions. If you don't have an existing super fund, (for example, if this is your first job) and you don't make a choice, your employer will generally pay your super into a default MySuper product of their choice.

Importantly, there are circumstances where your conditions of employment mandate that compulsory SG contributions be directed to a specific fund.

Making contributions

Super can be a tax-effective way to save for your future thanks to government tax concessions. Being mindful of the relevant contribution caps, you can boost your super further by:

- making extra contributions from your before-tax salary. For example, salary sacrifice may even reduce your taxable income;
- adding other savings (after-tax) into your Rest account. If you do this, depending on a number of circumstances such as your income, you may even be eligible for the Government co-contribution.

If you're aged under 75, you can make or receive personal contributions and salary sacrifice contributions without having to meet a work test. If, however, you wish to claim a tax deduction for personal contributions and you're aged between 67 and 74, you'll need to meet a work test. For more details, go to visit.rest.com.au/facts-figures.

Transferring low balances to the ATO

Each April and October, Rest is required by law to transfer inactive low-balance accounts to the ATO.

Generally, your account will be considered an inactive low-balance account if all the following criteria are met:

- your account has no insurance cover;
- your account balance is below $6,000;
- you have not satisfied a prescribed condition of release; and
- we have not received a contribution or rollover to your account within the last 16 months.

However, your account will not be transferred to the ATO if, in the last 16 months, you have done any of the following:

- changed your investment options;
- elected to maintain insurance on the account;
- made changes to your insurance cover;
- made or amended a binding beneficiary nomination;
- given Rest a written notice electing not to be a member of an inactive low-balance account.

Super Tip #1: Find and combine your super

In just a few steps you could avoid paying multiple fees for multiple super accounts.

You can find and combine your super in the Rest App.

Before deciding to combine your super, you should consider whether Rest is right for you. You should find out about fees and costs in your other fund(s) and any benefits, such as insurance cover, that would be lost if you combined your super. Before combining your super with Rest, make sure your other fund(s) know about any contribution for which you intend to claim as a tax deduction. For more information, consider speaking with a licensed financial adviser or visit ASIC's MoneySmart website (moneysmart.com.au) for more information.

04 Risks of super

Like all investments, super has risks. To balance risk, super funds generally invest in a broad range of asset classes such as cash, debt, property and shares. Assets with the highest potential return over the long term (such as shares) may also carry the highest risk in the short term. The investment option(s) you choose will depend on the level of risk you're ok with. Different strategies may carry different levels of risk, depending on the assets that make up the strategy.

Some things to keep in mind

- The value of investment options can go up and down.
- Future returns may differ from past returns.
- Returns are not guaranteed and will vary, and you may lose some of your superannuation.

- Superannuation, social security and tax laws may change in the future.
- The amount of your future superannuation savings (including contributions and returns) may not be enough to adequately provide for your retirement.

Other significant risks include currency risk, interest rate risk, liquidity risk, and market and economic risk.

The right level of risk for you will depend on factors such as your age, investment timeframes, how your other assets are invested and how comfortable you are with the possibility of any negative returns.

You should read the important information about the risks of super before making a decision. Go to the Investment Guide available at visit.rest.com.au/pds. The material relating to the risks of super may change between the time you read this PDS and the day you acquire the product.

05 How we invest your money

Choose from many different paths

Rest offers a range of investment options to suit your financial needs and objectives. You can even choose a combination of options to suit your personal level of risk and return.

The Growth option is Rest's default investment option, also known as a MySuper investment option. So if you're a new member to Rest and don't choose an investment option, you'll be invested in Growth, Rest's MySuper option.

Growth invests in a mix of growth and defensive assets, with a focus on growth assets. It may be suitable for members who are unsure how to invest their super, or who have a higher risk tolerance and an investment timeframe of 10 years or more.

If you're invested in 100% Growth you're a MySuper member, otherwise you're a Choice member.

You can switch your investment option online in MemberAccess and in the Rest App.

Super Tip #3: Think about risks, returns and timeframes

Always consider the likely returns, risk, and your investment timeframe when choosing investment options. Use our Investment Choice Solution to help you make the right investment choices. Go to visit.rest.com.au/investmentchoicesolution to get started.

You should read the important information about how we invest your money before making a decision. Go to the Investment Guide available at visit.rest.com.au/pds. The material relating to how we invest your money may change between the time you read this PDS and the day you acquire the product.

Investment return objective¹

CPI + 3% pa (after fees and tax) over rolling 10-year periods.

Asset allocation²

A mix of growth and defensive assets, with a focus on growth assets (can range between 70–80% growth assets) consisting of shares and debt (both Australian and overseas), property, infrastructure, cash and alternatives.

Minimum suggested timeframe

10+ years

Estimated number of negative annual returns expected over any 20 year period³

3 to less than 4

Risk band and level³

Risk band 5, Medium to High

What this option has returned⁴

(Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance).

Yearly return (to 30 June)
2022	-2.37%
2023	9.26%
2024	8.67%
2025	9.85%
2026	9.81%
Five-year annualised return	6.94%
Ten-year annualised return	7.60%

The Growth option has an exposure to the Australian shares asset class which may include companies listed in Australia but are based overseas. In addition, up to 10% of this asset class may be invested in stocks listed on the New Zealand Stock Exchange.

¹ This is what we use to determine asset allocation. It is also used to measure whether the investment objective is met. It is not a guaranteed rate of return. Rest does not use the Return Target (shown in the MySuper Product Dashboard) to set the investment return objective.

² The 'Asset allocation' is the benchmark asset allocation for the Growth investment option. The asset allocation may vary within the ranges shown in brackets. We reserve the right to vary the asset allocations, including the benchmarks and ranges. The latest information about asset allocations for each investment option is available at visit.rest.com.au/investment-options.

⁴ Returns are quoted at 30 June each year after fees not directly charged to your account and taxes have been deducted. The returns stated are correct as at 30 June 2026.

06 Fees and costs

Consumer Advisory Warning

DID YOU KNOW?

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long-term returns.

For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30-year period (for example, reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000).

You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs. You or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees. Ask the fund or your financial adviser.

TO FIND OUT MORE

If you would like to find out more, or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) Moneysmart website (www.moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation calculator to help you check out different fee options.

Please note: The wording in the Consumer Advisory Warning is prescribed by law. However, the statement regarding the possibility of negotiating lower fees does not apply to Rest Super.

Super Tip #4: Know how fees can affect your super

The calculator on the ASIC website at moneysmart.gov.au can be used to calculate the effect of fees and costs on your superannuation account balance.

Fees and other costs

The tables on pages 8 and 9 show the main fees and costs for a Rest Super member wholly invested in the Growth option which are deducted directly from their account, from investment returns or from the assets of the superannuation entity as a whole. You can use this information to compare the Growth option's fees and costs with other superannuation products.

Definitions of fees and costs can be found in the 'Defined fees' section of the Additional Information on Fees and Costs document available at visit.rest.com.au/pds.

Any amount charged in excess of that cap must be refunded.

- ² Investment fees and costs includes an amount of 0.06% for performance fees. The calculation basis for this amount is set out in the Additional Information on Fees and Costs document available at visit.rest.com.au/pds.
- ³ These fees and costs are based on actual and estimated costs for the financial year ended 30 June 2026 (except performance fees, which are generally averaged over the previous 5 financial years; and stamp duty costs, which are calculated as one-seventh of the stamp duty incurred in the financial year ended 30 June 2026). The actual fees and costs each year may be higher or lower than the fees and costs shown. Investment fees and costs and transaction costs for the financial year ending 30 June 2027 are forecast to increase. 07 How super is taxed

The tax treatment of super is complex, may change and depends upon your individual circumstances. We recommend that you seek independent tax advice. The following information is general in nature.

Tax rules on your super

- We will typically pay the tax applying to your account directly to the ATO.
- Contributions into your super made from your before-tax salary are generally taxed at 15%. An additional tax of 15% may apply if your combined income and before-tax contributions are over $250,000 pa – this is referred to as a 'Division 293 tax'.
- We will not tax contributions made from after-tax money unless you tell us that you intend to claim a personal tax deduction for the contribution.
- If you exceed the contribution caps, you may also need to pay additional tax depending on your circumstances and the types of contributions.
- Depending on your income each financial year, you may be eligible to receive a Low Income Superannuation Tax Offset (LISTO) from the Government. The LISTO payment is 15% of the before-tax contributions for a financial year and capped at $500 per year (increasing to $810 from 1 July 2027). For more info, visit ato.gov.au.
- Investment earnings are generally taxed at a maximum of 15%.
- If you are under the age of 60, subject to meeting a condition of release, withdrawals from your super may be taxed.
- Once you turn 60, you can generally withdraw your super tax-free, subject to meeting a condition of release
- If your total superannuation balances exceed $3 million you may need to pay additional tax on a portion of earnings – this is referred to as 'Division 296 tax'.

Your Tax File Number (TFN) is important

Providing your TFN can help make sure that you don't miss out on super that belongs to you. Without it, by law, we can only accept certain types of contributions and additional tax may apply.

Super Tip #5: Don't pay more tax

Check that we've got your TFN when you join Rest so you don't pay additional tax, and be careful not to exceed your contribution caps because that will mean you could pay extra tax as well. For information about how tax applies to super contributions, investment earnings and withdrawals, and the limits around how much you can contribute to your super, go to visit.rest.com.au/facts-figures.

08 Insurance in your super

Protecting your most valuable asset. You.

Life doesn't always go to plan. Insurance can be a smart way to protect yourself financially. As you read through this insurance section, you can refer to the Rest Super Insurance Guide for more information. Go to visit.rest.com.au/pds for a copy.

We offer three types of insurance so you can choose the type of cover that's right for you:

- Income Protection (IP) – a monthly payment to help meet living expenses if you can't work at all, or can only work at a reduced capacity, for a while because of illness or injury.
- Total and Permanent Disability (TPD) – a lump sum payment to help relieve the financial pressure if you're unlikely to ever work again due to illness or injury.
- Death cover – a lump sum paid to your beneficiaries or estate if you die. This can be paid as a pension (under certain conditions). Death cover can also be paid in advance if you become Terminally Ill.

Your Death cover and TPD cover are linked. This means that any TPD payment made to you will reduce your Death cover by the amount paid. Please note when a Death benefit is paid, all TPD cover will cease on the date of your death.

What is Default cover and how does it work?

Subject to eligibility, you'll be provided with Default insurance cover automatically in your Rest Super account.

Default cover provides an insurance package of IP (with a 5 year Benefit Period and 60 day Waiting Period), TPD and Death cover.

We take an 'age-based' approach, which means we set the cover amounts and cost of insurance based on your age and the likely financial needs of an average Rest member at your life stage.

The costs of Default cover

There are costs associated with insurance cover. The weekly cost of Default cover can be in the range of:

- Death cover: $0.03 – $8.57
- TPD cover: $0.03 – $4.79
- IP cover: $0.20 – $16.09

If you receive Default cover, depending on your age, your cover amounts can be in the range of:

- Death cover: $10,000 – $200,000
- TPD cover: $10,000 – $100,000
- IP cover: $1,000 – $3,000 per month

The table below shows a range of Default cover and premiums for eligible members across certain ages.

Age Last Birthday	Amount covered per month (IP)	Weekly premium (IP)	Amount covered (TPD)	Weekly premium (TPD)	Amount covered (Death)	Weekly premium (Death)	Total premium per week
15	$1,000	$0.20	$20,000	$0.03	$10,000	$0.03	$0.26
25	$3,000	$1.45	$100,000	$0.48	$160,000	$0.73	$2.66
35	$3,000	$4.91	$80,000	$1.44	$200,000	$2.23	$8.58
45	$2,800	$9.68	$60,000	$2.37	$200,000	$4.99	$17.04
55	$2,000	$15.59	$30,000	$3.20	$120,000	$6.99	$25.78
65	$1,500	$7.96	$10,000	$3.10	$20,000	$2.74	$13.80
69	$1,500	$9.51	$10,000	$3.11	$20,000	$3.82	$16.44

(IP Benefit Period 5 years, Waiting Period 60 days)

To determine the cost of Default cover at every age, refer to the relevant tables in the Rest Super Insurance Guide, starting from page 37.

Commencement of Default cover

Getting cover automatically

You're eligible for Default cover automatically once you're age 25 or over and have an account balance of $6,000 or more.

Once you meet these eligibility requirements, cover will commence automatically when we receive your next mandatory employer contribution into your account (as long as you haven't had insurance cover previously in your Rest account).

Choosing Default cover

If you are aged 15 to 69, you can choose to opt-in to Default cover before it automatically starts by satisfying a few health and work-related questions. You can choose to opt-in online at visit.rest.com.au/member-access. You'll need to have a minimum account balance to cover one month's premium.

If you choose to have some Default cover (but not all Default cover), you will not receive any further automatic Default cover when you become eligible and will not be able to opt-in again. For example, if you choose to opt-in to Default Death cover now, you won't be able to opt-in to or automatically receive TPD and IP cover later when you turn 25, have a balance of at least $6,000 and receive a mandatory employer contribution.

Opting-out of Default cover, changing or cancelling your existing cover

If you don't want Default cover now or in the future, you are able to opt-out of Default cover.

If you have IP cover, you can change the duration of your IP Benefit Period or alter the Waiting Period.

You can also reduce or cancel each cover type, or all of your cover at any time.

Before you change or cancel your insurance cover, please consider your needs carefully. If you reduce or cancel your cover, you will not be able to obtain insurance cover with Rest in the future without providing health and financial information and having your insurance application reviewed and accepted by the Insurer.

For help choosing the right cover for your needs, go to visit.rest.com.au/insurance-explained. If you'd like to opt-out of Default cover, change or cancel your cover, you can go to visit.rest.com.au/member-access or contact us on 1300 300 778.

Voluntary Cover

If Default cover doesn't meet your needs, you can apply for Voluntary cover at any time but you'll need to provide health and financial information. Voluntary cover is 'fixed' cover – meaning the amount of cover remains the same unless you change it (excluding Voluntary TPD cover which reduces from age 60). You can apply for:

- IP cover – up to $30,000 per month plus Default cover (subject to your income)
- TPD cover – up to $5 million plus Default cover
- Death cover – up to any amount.

To apply, log into MemberAccess at visit.rest.com.au/member-access and click on the Insurance tab or complete an 'Application for insurance Rest Super' form found at visit.rest.com.au/see-forms and email it to us.

The other options which are available to increase your cover (subject to limits, conditions and approval) include:

- Transferring your insurance to Rest – You can transfer any existing IP, TPD and/or Death cover you have with another super fund or insurer to Rest Super.
- Applying for extra cover at important times in your life – Our Life Events cover lets you increase your cover when you reach a key milestone.
- Once-only limited underwriting – You can apply for a limited amount of Voluntary cover without the need for a full application.

Any transferred cover, Life Events cover or cover obtained with limited underwriting will be provided as Voluntary cover.

Paying for your insurance cover

Insurance premiums are deducted from your account balance each month.

This means that, unless you opt out of Default cover or cancel it, the cost of that cover will be deducted from your Rest Super account.

It's important to ensure you have enough in your account to cover these premiums. If your account does not have sufficient funds to pay for your insurance, you will lose your cover. To calculate the cost of cover, follow the steps on page 26 of the Rest Super Insurance Guide.

Cooling off period

You have a 14-day cooling off period, from when we tell you that your cover has started, to decide if you don't want the insurance cover and we will refund any premiums charged to your account within this time.

After 14 days you can still cancel your cover, however, the premiums will be charged until the date we receive your request.

What happens to my cover if I stop working?

While your cover will continue (subject to your cover being active), the IP benefit paid for a claim considers income earned from working over the last 12 months.

So, if you stop working, it could affect the amount of, or the ability to receive, an IP benefit payment.

You can see an example of how we calculate your cover based on the Pre-Disability Income under the 'Types of cover in detail' section in the Rest Super Insurance Guide.

Need to make a claim?

Our online claims portal makes your claim simple to lodge and track – helping you through when it matters. Learn more about the claims process including the steps and the time it takes at visit.rest.com.au/insurance-claims.

How is my IP benefit payment determined?

The IP benefit payment is determined by your Pre-Disability Income. The amount payable to you (the income component) is the lesser of 77% of your Pre-Disability Income and your sum insured. This means that depending on your income, you may receive less than your sum insured. The income component of the IP benefit may be reduced due to income received from other sources, as described in the Rest Super Insurance Guide. Any super component that is payable will be paid into your Rest Super account.

Keep your insurance active

Your insurance will be cancelled due to being 'inactive' if there's no contribution into your super account for 13 continuous months and you don't elect to keep your insurance. Your insurance cover can be turned on again (reinstated) by:

- you or your employer contributing to your account within 28 days of the cancellation; or
- telling us you would like to keep it within 60 days of the cancellation. Go online at visit.rest.com.au/member-access and select the Insurance tab or complete the 'Election to reinstate insurance cover' form available from visit.rest.com.au/see-forms.

You will need sufficient funds in your account to pay for any premiums owed before your cover is reinstated.

You should read the important information about insurance including eligibility, cancellation, when cover ends, and conditions and exclusions of insurance before making a decision. This information may affect your entitlement to insurance cover. Go to the Rest Super Insurance Guide available at visit.rest.com.au/pds.

You can refer to the Key Fact Sheet for a summary of the features of the Default cover provided in Rest Super at visit.rest.com.au/superkeyfacts.

The material relating to insurance may change between the time you read this PDS and the day you acquire the product.

09 How to open an account

If you're joining Rest through your employer, they'll apply on your behalf.

Otherwise, you can join Rest quickly and easily by scanning the QR code, going online at visit.rest.com.au/joinrest or by completing the application form in this PDS.

Make sure you've read this PDS and other important information that forms part of this PDS.

We'll send you a welcome pack with your member number. Use this to keep tabs on your super 24/7 in the Rest App and online in MemberAccess.

Important disclosures (including your annual statements and exit statements, significant event notices, and confirmations of transactions), are provided electronically to your nominated email address or mobile number or by making them available through the Rest Website, MemberAccess, or the Rest App, as determined by us. If you would like to receive paper copies, you can do so by phoning 1300 300 778.

If you're already a Rest member from a previous job, just let your new employer know your member number through the Rest Fund nomination form available at visit.rest.com.au/see-forms so they can pay your super into your Rest account.

Beneficiary nomination

By nominating a person (or people) to be your beneficiary, you're letting us know who you'd like to get your super when you die. There are rules around who can be a valid beneficiary. To learn about who you can nominate and the types of beneficiary nominations you can make, go to visit.rest.com.au/beneficiary.

If you change your mind

You have 14 days from the date we receive your application to cancel it if you change your mind.

You'll need to let us know in writing to Rest, PO Box 350, Parramatta NSW 2124 or email to contact@rest.com.au. You won't be able to cancel your application if you've exercised any rights in relation to your account. These cooling-off rights don't apply if you joined through your employer. If you do cancel, you'll only be charged applicable government taxes. Investment returns (positive or negative) will be applied to your account. We'll transfer your account balance to a complying super fund of your choice.

Partial rollover/withdrawal

If you make a partial rollover/withdrawal, and your remaining account balance is less than $6,000, and your account becomes inactive, your account balance will be transferred to the ATO. Once the account balance is transferred to the ATO, your Rest account will be closed. See 'Transferring low balances to the ATO' in Section 2 of this PDS to find out how you can keep your account active.

To keep your insurance cover, you'll need to ensure you have enough in your account to pay for future premiums.

Temporary residents

If you are a temporary resident, and not an Australian or New Zealand citizen, there are limited conditions under which you may withdraw your super. After you have departed Australia and your temporary visa has expired, you can lodge a Departing Australia Superannuation Payment (DASP) claim with your super fund or the ATO. If you don't claim your super within six months, your super balance will be transferred to the ATO as unclaimed monies. You will then be able to claim it from the ATO. Under relief provided by the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC), we will not notify you or send you an exit statement if we transfer your super to the ATO. To find out more, visit the DASP page on the ATO website at ato.gov.au.

Concerns and complaints

If you feel something's gone wrong, please get in touch with us so we can try to sort things out. You can make a complaint by phone, email, letter or Live Chat. For more details, go to visit.rest.com.au/lodge-complaint.

We'll acknowledge your complaint within one business day and we'll aim to resolve your complaint within 45 days, or 90 days if your complaint is about a death benefit distribution.

If you aren't satisfied with how we're handling your complaint, or you don't agree with our decision, you can lodge a complaint (for free) with the Australian Financial Complaints Authority (AFCA), the independent external dispute resolution body online at afca.org.au or call 1800 931 678.
